

THE ARRETON AND OAKFIELD FEDERATION

CURRICULUM STATEMENT 2016 -2017

LEARNING COMMITTEE

Date of review: September 2017

INTRODUCTION

As Church of England Schools our curriculum, like all other aspects of school life, is underpinned by Christian values, (see appendix 1) where we aim to respect, understand and welcome everyone regardless of their background, culture or faith.

Across the Federation each school has developed a curriculum that covers the requirements of the National Curriculum 2014 wider curriculum objectives including personal, social and health education. This provides a broad and balanced curriculum for each key stage over a two-year developmental programme of activity. We continually monitor and review the curriculum and make adjustments to ensure it meets the needs of our pupils in an ever changing world. In RE we have been following the Hampshire Agreed Syllabus but this year we are part of a pilot group working with the Diocese to trial a new scheme 'Understanding Christianity'.

The curriculum has been developed to allow teachers to plan and deliver an exciting and engaging learning experience meeting the needs of all pupils in both schools of the Federation. Our approach aims to enable pupils to develop independent thinking and learning that will give them the skills for life. Where possible we integrate real-life learning experiences that enable them to apply their skills knowledge and understanding in a variety of contexts.

Teaching and learning is matched to pupil need. Expectations of pupils across the Federation are high and we encourage all pupils to be aspirational. Our cross-curricular approach enables pupils to make links between subjects. This enhanced by specialist teaching in Modern Foreign Languages (MFL), music and computing.

The English Programme of study is used to compliment the teaching of other subjects and develop literacy skills in a range of contexts, but its fundamental aim is to raise pupil attainment in spoken language, reading, writing, grammar, punctuation and spelling. Mathematics is taught both as a discrete subject, and applied in cross-curricular ways.

The Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) is integrated into planning for Citizenship, R.E and school acts of worship. Our PSHE is designed to support each pupil in ways which enable them to make positive, effective choices about their lives. It will include considering how to support their own mental and physical well-being and how to contribute positively as a citizen, including learning about democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty, mutual respect and tolerance of those of different faiths and beliefs. Staff keep updated on things such as the Prevent Agenda and Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) and where appropriate we include age appropriate curriculum work within PSHE.

We value Religious Education (RE) as being fundamental to an understanding of the ways in which we attempt to make sense of life, both through religious beliefs and traditions and also through the exploration of their own individual and collective responses to life itself and belief in God. RE takes place throughout the schools, based on the teaching of the Church of England, and following the new Understanding Christianity Scheme and elements of the Hampshire Agreed Syllabus to enable us to interpret religion in relation to human experience.

The federation believes in active partnerships between school, pupils and home. We believe that parents are integral to the educational success of their children. Opportunities are made available to strengthen and foster these links through regular invitations to celebrate learning, class and celebration assemblies and formal consultations between teacher and parent about children's progress. Both schools have active parent groups who provide an essential parent voice for school policy and organisational development.
